Volume 4, Number 4, April 2007

The WOOLF Titles are Baaaack!

After taking three years off, WOOLF will be bringing back their title contest.

The titles are: Mr. WOOLF Leather, Ms.

Our 2005 Title Family, boy Darren and girl Jen

WOOLF Leather, Kansas boy Leather and Kansas girl Leather.

We are changing one major thing: We are only awarding one title. In other words, everybody competes together for one single title. All the Sirs, Maams, boys and girls compete against each other, and whoever gets the most points will get the title most appropriate for them. For example if a Sir won, he would be Mr. WOOLF Leather 2007.

Time period: we will have the contest every two years, but the titleholder will only have the title for one year. Two years is too much work!

Qualifications: The contest is open to all sexes and orientations, male, female, TS/TG, Straight, gay, bi. Contestants must be a current resident of Kansas. They must also be over 21.

It should be a little easier on contestants this time, because they aren't required to run for a national title if they don't want to.

We are currently putting together a great prize package for the winner.

The contest will be held during Leather Camp III. So now, Leather Camp is more inclusive than ever, with titles for all Leatherpeople. Of course, we will still host the three ILSb titles, so it will be a very full weekend ♡

WOOLF WATCH is published by W.O.O.L.F., the Wichita Organization Of Leather Fetishes, Inc. WOOLF is dedicated to the education and development of the leather and fetish community. We are a pansexual group, open to gay, straight and bisexual people.

Watersports by Mister C, WOOLF President 2007

I like watersports. Not water sports, such as swimming, water skiing or boating or such, but rather watersports involving urine. (note the difference in spelling). I know that some of you will be saying "eww yuck" but if it's done right, it can be, and is, a lot of fun.

Watersports is also referred to as golden showers. There is also the term "give water" in which one gives their urine to another for drinking. "Recycled beer" is another term. The technical term for all this is Urolagnia (also known as urophilia or undinism). Urolagnia is a sexual fetish in which participants derive sexual pleasure from urine and urination.

People into watersports often like to urinate in public, or urinate on someone, or be urinated on by other people, and may drink the urine. Some like to watch others doing these things.

Variations

Urine may be consumed or bathed in. Other forms may involve a tendency to be sexually aroused by smelling urine soaked clothing or body parts. In many cases, a strong correlation or conditioning arises between urine smell or sight and the sexual act. Some are aroused by the sound of either a male or female urinating into a receptacle (one designed for urination, or not). In BDSM, a submissive may be urinated on or forced to hold their urine until incontinence as a form of humiliation. In some cases, a person is aroused by merely staging situations where others can either witness that person wet his or her clothing or smell his or her urine scent. In Western nations, the term is sometimes broadened to include all fetishism for wetting oneself, seeing another urinate in their pants/underclothes, or wetting the bed, often leading to a crossover with communities for diaper fetishism and infantilism. Though arousal by this kind of accidental wetting is more accurately described as omorashi, such fetish communities outside of Japan are relatively small and significantly less prevalent than other groups dealing with urine. And finally there's watersports enemas. This is where one person urinates in someone's ass or vagina.

Issues

Smell and taste: If the odor and taste is the problem, diluting your urine may be a very good idea. That reduces the smell considerably. Drinking fruit juice for example, or mineral rich water, helps reduce the smell of urine. So does beer (which will also help in producing more urine if that is what you are looking for). Fish, eggs, meat, but also peas and peanuts will increase the smell of urine. So if you have had a rich meal the day before, or had a lot of peanuts, trying to dilute your urine is a very good idea. Remember that it is not what you have eaten a few hours

Thoughts of a Daddy

by Daddy Matt, Education Director

Last year, I wrote an article on my feelings for boy Chris. To say that it was heartfelt and emotional is an understatement. This is another article on boy Chris coming home; this is no less heartfelt and emotional.

The process of boy getting out of the Army was a nerve killing process, because it just did not go fast enough for me. Missing someone so much and knowing that I had to wait until the process was done before boy could come home.

Neither Darren or I got much sleep for those months that we waited until boy came home.

I asked myself many times, “Is he getting out because of what I want, or because the Army is truly not for him? Are his knees going to last?” Only boy knows the true answer.

I can say this; my love for him is as strong now this day as it was when boy told me that he was going into the Army.

Has he grown? Has he stayed the same? Has he remembered what he learned in my teachings to him about leather? The answer is YES!.

So young, so much to learn and experience.

Boy Chris has a family beyond Darren, Tyler and I. That family is everyone in WOOLF, and everyone in the leather life.

Boy Chris from your Daddy. WELCOME HOME I MISSED YOU.

I know that this is shorter than the first, but there are other article(s) that I will be writing some long, some short. But all with love and respect for the life and the family.

Collaring, now that is an article to wait for =). Thank you for your time in reading this article. 🍀

LAW Group

by Darren, WOOLF VP

Leather Associates of WOOLF, also known as LAW, held their initial interest meeting on April 7th at The OtherSide. In attendance were 9 gay men who are interested in building the gay leatherman’s culture in Wichita.

Many good ideas were thrown in by all. Approved from the list of ideas there were a munch at Dutch’s and social night, both on May 12th. The social will be at SideStreet at 10 pm. The dinner at Dutch’s will start at 6pm. Roadtrips and local hosting of Men’s Night were also well received.

This group will be working to revive the interest of gay leathermen who have fallen to the wayside in recent years. WOOLF is currently seeking a full or associate member who 1) has a direct interest in LAW and 2) is willing to lead the group. Interested parties should not be a current board member to WOOLF. Now is the best time to volunteer (during the formative months to come).

Leather Contest News

by Daddy Henry

Olympus

The Olympus contest is geared toward an inclusive Leather community, celebrating diversity in the Leather world. The new Mr. & Ms. Olympus Leather are: Florida’s Sir Jeff and Ottawa Canada’s Angela Albert.

International Master & slave

Held in conjunction with the South Plains Leatherfest, winners are Sir Larry (not our Sir Larry) and slave barb.

Mister Tulsa Leather

See the article on the right.

IMSL

The Midwest finally lost the International Ms. Leather Contest. In an effort to get more attendees, they moved it to San Francisco this year.

This year’s IMSL is Lauren from Phoenix. She is a queer, polyamorous switch. Her cat is even named Switch!

Also at IMSL is the International Ms. Boot Black contest (Imzbubba). Ms. V is the 2007 IMSBB from Richmond California.

Due to a “need to reorganize” the American Brotherhood contest was not held this year.

With so many contests being cancelled, or moved to bigger markets just to survive, we can be really proud of Leather Camp for its steady growth and success. 🍀

Tulsa Mr. Leather

by Darren, WOOLF VP

March 16-18th saw the Tulsa Mr. Leather Competition in Tulsa, Oklahoma. The host bar, Club Maverick, was packed with gay, straight, and bi-kinky folk from across the Midwest. WOOLF was represented on the Judge’s table by boy John, Darren presented Club Colors, Mister C as Great Plains LeatherSir, along with members Daddy Matt, boy Chris, boy Jess, and Scott Sullivan. (My apologies if I left anyone out!) Eddie, were you there?

TULSA did their usual best to make everyone feel welcome during the Meet & Greet on Friday. The Tulsa Driller Bears held their Bear contest on Friday as well. MMMMM, bears!

Vending for the weekend was our own Scott Sullivan with Bearhide Creations and Craig Heslop with The Leather Shop in Kansas City. Great prices and products resulted in many sales for both. Also, Kansas City Leather University set up classes at The Tulsa Eagle (another cool bar) on Saturday afternoon. This writer admits to having missed the classes (I was running errands!)

Emcee for the weekend, Chad Neil, was up to the task as he brought out the two contestants for Tulsa Mr. Leather for Brief Apparel, Full Leather Image, and more. While the two contestants were hot! hot! hot! there can be only 1 title holder at the end of the contest. This year’s TML is David Howell.

Congratulations to David from all the members of WOOLF. 🍀

Watersports

ago is what is causing the problem. It is the things you ate the day before. Never, ever, eat asparagus prior to watersports, it creates a terrible smell and also remember that if you are sweating a lot (because of sports activity or just because it is hot) your urine will also be more concentrated and hence smell and taste more intense. Finally, drinking lots and lots of water is good for your body anyway, because it will help cleaning it, and it will dilute your urine as well. The more water you drink the less smelly (and less “tasty” by the way) your urine will be. Two liters a day (half a gallon) will make urine almost taste like slightly salted water.

Cautions

Urine, when compared to other fluids in the body, is relatively sterile. Urine is primarily comprised of water, urea (proteins and amino acids), uric acid, and other bodily waste products.

Urine first thing in the morning after sleeping has more potency than any other time of the day. It is not recommended to drink or do watersports enemas after first waking up. It has a very strong odor and taste.

Transmission of Disease:

Hepatitis C: Rick Sowadsky, M.S.P.H. from the Nevada State Health department says this about hepatitis C and watersports:

“The hepatitis C virus is transmitted primarily through direct blood-to-blood contact (for example sharing needles). Occasionally, it can also be transmitted sexually, most often through unprotected intercourse. The hepatitis C virus can sometimes be found in other body fluids like saliva, semen, and urine, but the risks are less than exposure to blood. When it comes to watersports (sex involving urine), this is a sexual activity that rarely gets discussed. I am not aware of any cases of hepatitis C transmission specifically through watersports. Theoretically speaking, there may be some risk of infection through watersports if you drink your partners urine (known as internal watersports). If he has a high viral load in his blood, there is a chance that the viral load in his urine may be increased as well. Although there may be some risk of infection through internal watersports, we can generally say that the risk is less than direct blood-to-blood contact, and less than unprotected intercourse. Getting his urine on your skin (known as external watersports) is very low risk, since the hepatitis C virus must get into your bloodstream in order to infect you.”

HIV and watersports: There is no known risk of HIV transmission through contact with urine in or on your body. HIV cannot always be isolated in urine, and if it is, HIV concentrations are too small to pose a threat of infection (although it still could occur). Some conditions contribute to blood being present in a person’s urine, which would contribute to a risk of HIV transmission. Watersports enemas could have a high potential of infections. Since we don’t really know the risks, a HIV positive person should never “give water” to a non HIV person.

Other

Transmissions:

Cytomegalovirus (CMV) is a virus that can be transmitted through urine.

Other infections of the urogenital tract could theoretically pose a risk of infection to you when you get urine in your body. Microorganisms that “live” in the urethra (like those that cause gonorrhea or chlamydia) or others that might be present in genital fluid (like hepatitis) could be carried out by urine and into your body. Mucosal contact (the lining of the mouth or rectum) with these organisms could pose a risk for infection, but again, there isn’t a whole lot of proof to support this.

Final Cautions:

The San Francisco sexual information office states that if the Top is using drugs, and the bottom drinks urine, the bottom will test positive for drugs. This could ruin a career.

The US Army survival manual states never drink urine that has been stored, it will be filled with dangerous bacteria.

A cybersub who was ordered to drink all of her urine for too long a period was hospitalized with a severe kidney infection. Keep things reasonable.

Final word — Although there are some issues involved with watersports where one has to be cautious, there is a lot of fun that can be done with watersports. The flow of warm body temperature liquid splashing on the body or the warmth of the fluid inside you is an exhilarating experience. For those who like to swallow cum or have cum on their bodies, watersports is a great alternative. ♀
